

Temblores Publicaciones About

Founded in 2017, Temblores Publicaciones is an independent publishing house based in Mexico City. We are interested in enabling editorial spaces that activate critical dialogues around contemporary artistic practices and situated thought in the Americas. We think of the book and its displays as tools that expand aesthetic processes; as a support where object and content stimulate radical imaginations around other histories of art.

We have a growing network of national and international distribution that allows us to take the discussions generated from the editorial format into other latitudes, while fostering the relationship between institutions, art spaces, galleries and specialized bookstores.
